

IN VEIL AND GOWN

From the clouds of gray the snowflakes white
Are falling lightly down,
Robing hill and dell and plain
In gorgeous ermine gown.

Like lovely brides upon the hill,
The trees in stately grace
Nod modestly behind their veils
Of Nature's magic lace.

By Alice Whitson Norton

From Holland's Magazine of the South
January, 1930 – page 71