

MAY

When lovely May come stepping out
Adorned in flowers gay,
In humbleness the whole world bends
To drop a courtesy.

As dainty is this lovely miss
As bits of Dresden china;
And that's a lot for one to say,
Since nothing can be finer.

She wears a wreath of apple blooms
And slippers emerald green,
And few there are who fail to see
In her, Dame Nature's queen.

By Alice Whitson Norton

From: Girlhood Days Magazine
May 18, 1841 – Page 3